CDX Test Start Guide

ECMPS 2.0 Beta

This is a quick start guide for users on how to create a CDX test registration. ECMPS 2.0 will utilize CDX login services, therefore anyone wishing to login, edit, and evaluate data in the ECMPS beta environment will need to first create a CDX test account. This account is specific to the beta environment and is separate from CDX production. Users with an existing CDX production account will need to create a test account/login as well. If you have any questions concerning this process, please send an email to ecmps-beta@camdsupport.com.

The steps are outlined below. Name and contact information (email and phone) should be real, everything else, including organization, should be fake.

 Ensure you can login to CDX test. For those of you familiar with the production version of CDX, it provides a hyperlink to directly access selected applications (CEDRI for example)— this functionality is not included in the test environment.
